

September 08, 2025:

The evil one is baiting its own hook and feeding itself.

'Big fish takes little fish.'

The way of evil is to deceive and take from another for its own gains.

The way of evil to harvest its food is to fish for the opportunity to set the hook, then reel in its catch.

The way of evil is to use an embedded lure to encourage a bite.

The way of evil uses the bite to reel in its intended target and eat it for its own gains.

If I were working to end an evil fishing expedition, I would be working to end the evil lure that sets the evil hook, rather than the evil fisherman or the captured fish. If I am dissolving the fishing line, then I am dissolving the evil's way of feeding its endless appetite.